

Clinical Track

Undergraduate Psychology majors at CSUF wishing to gain more expertise in the field of Clinical Psychology can specialize in the Clinical track by completing the requirements listed below. Important Note: This Clinical Track is not intended to prepare you for graduate studies in the Master of Science (MS) Clinical Psychology program at CSUF, which has additional prerequisites (see the MS program webpage on the Department website for the full listing of prerequisites).

Required courses (6 units):

PSYC 341 Psychological Disorders
PSYC 461 Psychological Testing

Choose four (12 units) of the following:

PSYC 305 Cognitive Psychology
PSYC 306 Biopsychology
PSYC 331 Psychology of Personality
PSYC 362 Psychology of Aging
PSYC 475 Psychopharmacology OR PSYC 481 Survey of Clinical Psychology OR PSYC 431 Theories of Personality*

Students are welcome to take more than one of these classes, but then you will be taking more Psychology units than are required for the major because you will have more than 6 units of upper division electives.

Recommended Minors (does not count towards the Clinical Track):

Adolescent Development (18 units; Child and Adolescent Studies Department)
African American Studies (21 units; African American Studies Department)
Asian American Studies (18 units; Asian American Studies Department)
Chicana and Chicano Studies (15 units; Chicana and Chicano Studies Department)
Child and Adolescent Development (21 units; Child and Adolescent Studies Department)
Data Science (information forthcoming; Department of Mathematics)
Human Services (21 units; Department of Human Services)
Public Health (21 units; Department of Public Health)